Since its inception in 1999, the Web Site Evolution (WSE) series of events has provided a forum for researchers and practitioners to present original work on subjects related to the disciplined evolution of large-scale Web sites. Following the previous editions, WSE 2007 aims to attract researchers from different research communities, ranging from software maintenance and evolution to Web engineering and semantic Web. WSE 2007 will provide researchers and practitioners with an exciting environment to discuss results and exchange experiences.

WSE 2007 will be held in Paris, France on October 5 and 6 2007 and will be co-located with the 23rd IEEE International Conference on Software Maintenance (ICSM 2007). The technical program of WSE 2007 will include invited talks, paper presentations, panels and working sessions.

Keynote

An outstanding keynote speech will be given by Luciano Baresi from Politecnico di Milano, Italy.

Special Issue

Authors of best Papers of WSE 2007 will be invited to submit an extended, revised version of their papers for a Special Issue of the Journal of Web Engineering (JWE) edited by Rinton Press.

Topics

Topics of interest include but are not restricted to the following aspects of Web-based application design, development, maintenance and evolution:

- Costs and benefits estimation
- Documentation
- Design and implementation
- Empirical studies
- Migrating toward semantic Web
- Migrating towards Web 2.0
- Models, methodologies, and architectures
- Security
- Testing and quality evaluation
- Tools, environments, and technologies

Submission Process

The symposium foresees the submission of research papers or experience report, not exceeding 4000 words (8 pages using 10-point font type), including figures and references. Full paper submissions must be received by Friday, June 15, 2007, and must be in Adobe Acrobat PDF. Papers must be submitted online via the CyberChair system at: <http://cyber.rcost.unisannio.it/~wse2007papers>.
